

LESSON 175.

IN THE FOLLOWING, c OR g ENDING A SYLLABLE HAVING A PRIMARY OR SECONDARY ACCENT, IS SOUNDED AS s AND j RESPECTIVELY.

pub lic' i ty	ex plic' it	tac i tur' ni ty
ra pac' i ty	so lic' it	mag is te' ri al
sa gac' i ty	im ag' ine	a troc' i ty bel lig' er ent	au dac' i ty	fe roc' i ty
o rig' i nał	ca pac' i ty	ve loc' i ty ver tig' i nous	lo quac' i ty	rhi noc' e ros
ar mig' er ous	men dac' i ty	rec i proc' i ty
re frig' er ate	il leg' i ble	im ag in a' tion
rec i ta' tion	o rig' i nate	ex ag ger a' tion
veg e ta' tion	so lic' i tor	re frig er a' tion
ag i ta' tion	fe lic' i ty	so lic i ta' tion
cog i ta' tion	mu nic' i pal	fe lic i ta' tion
o le ag' i nous	an tic' i pate	leg er de main'

DICTATION.

Too oft we pine at ills unseen,
 And from the future borrow,
 And load ourselves till we careen
 With what may be to-morrow.

Thus with a world of care we hedge Ourselves, and little know it—
 By ever crossing o'er the bridge
 Before we have come to it.

J. W. HARRINGTON.